JOURNAL PROMPTS

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

It's valuable to look for the strengths in others—you gain nothing by criticizing people's imperfections. In fact, it is helpful to take a step back, for even a moment each day, and try to consider the feelings and positive qualities of others of whom you are critical (p. 321).

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in For Today & Tomorrow:

There is no need to be impatient. Anything that is accomplished quickly and easily will not long endure. Now is the time to concentrate on the construction of a solid foundation. I hope you will complete this work slowly but surely, filled with hope and joy (p. 315).

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

#1. "The main thing is to be proud of the work you do, to live true to yourself" (p. 377).

Are you proud of the work you do? Do you live in a fashion that is true to yourself?

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

#2. "Activity is another name for happiness" (p. 377). Why?

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

#1) What is defeat in life? It is not merely making a mistake; defeat means giving up on yourself in the midst of difficulty (p. 378). explain

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

#2) What is true success in life? True success means winning in your battle with yourself (p. 378). Explain.

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

#3) Those who persist in the pursuit of their dreams, no matter what the hurdles, are winners in life, for they have won over their weaknesses (p. 378). Explain

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in For Today & Tomorrow:

#1) ND writes, "If you light a lantern for another, it will brighten your own way" [(GZ p. 1598) p. 368]. Explain.

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in For Today & Tomorrow:

#2) Please be confident that the higher your flame of altruistic action burns, the more its light will suffuse your life with happiness (p. 368). Explain.

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in For Today & Tomorrow:

#3) Those who possess an altruistic spirit are the happiest people of all (p. 398). Why?

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in
For Today & Tomorrow:

When you determination changes, everything else will begin to move in the direction you desire. The moment you resolve to be victorious, every nerve and fiber in your being will immediately orient itself toward your success.

On the other hand, if you think “This is never going to work out,” then at that instant every cell in your being will be deflated and give up the fight, and then everything really will move in the direction of failure. P. 288,

JP-- According to Daisaku Ikeda, a philosopher and international peace activist, in Wisdom for Modern Life:

It's valuable to look for the strengths in others—you gain nothing by criticizing people's imperfections. In fact, it is helpful to take a step back, for even a moment each day, and try to consider the feelings and positive qualities of others of whom you are critical. P. 321
